

August 4, 2011

WASHINGTON, D.C. – U.S. Congressman Jason Altmire (PA-04), a member of the House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, today released the following statement regarding the stalled negotiations for an extension of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA):

"I am extremely disappointed that this petty partisanship is costing us more than 70,000 jobs when unemployment rates are already skyrocketing and important FAA operations are in jeopardy," Congressman Altmire said. "Congress must do everything in its power to resolve this issue as soon as possible. I am ready to do whatever it takes to get this extension completed because so much is at stake, and I urge my colleagues to get on board to finalize an agreement."

WASHINGTON, D.C. – U.S. Congressman Jason Altmire (PA-04), a member of the House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, today released the following statement regarding the stalled negotiations for an extension of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA):

"I am extremely disappointed that this petty partisanship is costing us to lose more than 70,000 jobs when unemployment rates are already skyrocketing and important FAA operations are in jeopardy," Congressman Altmire said. "Congress must do everything in its power to resolve this issue as soon as possible. I am ready to do whatever it takes to get this extension completed because so much is at stake, and I urge my colleagues to get on board to finalize an agreement."