WASHINGTON, D.C. – The Office of U.S. Congressman Jason Altmire will offer an Internet safety workshop conducted by Facebook representatives and the Pennsylvania Office of Attorney General on Wednesday, April 18, 2012. This event will be the first time Facebook has visited western Pennsylvania to discuss online safety and responsible social networking. Pennsylvania Deputy Attorney General Anthony Marmo will also attend to discuss Internet privacy and related topics. Mr. Marmo is the Western Region's Civil Enforcement Officer for Technology and Computer Based Offenses.

The event is free and open to the public. For additional information, contact Congressman Altmire's office at 724-226-1304 or the Plum Borough School District at 412-798-6359.
